

MX Brings OptionsPlay to Canada's Derivatives Market

June 19, 2017 (MONTRÉAL) - Montréal Exchange (MX), Canada's leading derivatives exchange, is now offering investors complimentary subscriptions to OptionsPlay, an advanced options trading tool that provides users with the education and resources needed to make informed strategic trades.

The educational tool is powered by OptionsPlay LLC, a US-based analytics provider, using Canadian market data. Its platform is designed to offer investors with a range of unique capabilities, including comprehensive analytics and charting features, to enhance decision-making.

"In today's increasingly complex marketplace, the modern investor requires user-friendly and educational analytics tools to make timely, strategic investing decisions," said Gladys Karam, Director, Equity Derivatives, Montréal Exchange. "MX is proud to offer Canadian investors of all levels and expertise exclusive access to OptionsPlay's innovative and intuitive platform."

"We are proud to be partnering with the Montréal Exchange," said Mark Engelhardt, CEO, OptionsPlay. "Our collective goal is to provide investors with a tool that helps to identify optimal trading and income opportunities on the Canadian markets that may not have otherwise been realized."

To benefit from this complimentary offer, all interested Canadian investors must subscribe directly with OptionsPlay using the following link: <http://www.m-x.ca/optionsplay/en.html>
